

Tuesday 29th September
 Lo: To apply the suspense toolkit

Great Start!

Holding his breath, Harry crept slowly ^{terrified} ~~to~~ to explore the dark, becoming forest. As he walked, he was arguing with his friend and was getting quite annoyed. Then he stopped. There was a man with a black coat, a ghastly mouth and a terrifying speech. Harry ~~stared~~ ~~stared~~ The mist thickened and the lantern flickered. His friend and dog was gone there live but Harry ~~stared~~ then the man was sucking blood out of a horse and then stood up. Harry was ~~scared~~ ~~scared~~. He got closer as Harry got farther until Harry was cornered. He ~~noticed~~ ~~noticed~~ it was ~~golden~~ ~~golden~~ him, he was up in the air and got ready to strike but then someone else did it. The creature was half human, half horse and white all round and he stood like a hero. Harry stood up. "Thank you!" said Harry. "No problem," said the creature back. Harry was amazed and in awe. The creature was strong and mighty. "Hacks, gang!" Harry called. "They didn't answer." Harry went back to his mates and said "Hacks." "Hi!" called Hacks. "Hi!" said Gang. "Hi!" Harry called back. And Harry told them all about the creature and he was very happy.

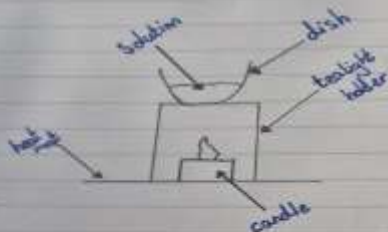

stopped - stopped
 - stopped
 - stopped

they - they
 - they
 - they

- stopped
 - still stopped
 - stopped

Tuesday 22nd September

Lo: To recover a solute from a solution

- ① We put our solution in the small dish.
- ② We used matches to light the fire on the candle.
- ③ We put the water and the candle in together.
- ④ Finally, we set up a control sample to test how it would change.

To recover our solute we evaporated the water. We found out that if you apply more heat then the evaporation is quicker. This was an example of a reversible change.

Monday 5th October

Apple session punishment methods

Good Feud

If some body was to be punished there punishment was about to track them down and punish them but this originally led to a lot more blood shed, shed.

Tittings

10 men were all responsible for each other and if one man broke the laugh they had to turn them in. If they failed to do so the group had to pay a fine.

Trial by Hot Water

If somebody was accused of breaking the laugh the punishment might be that they have to put their hands in boiling hot water then they got handgrip and then in three days they checked if it was handgrip really then they were innocent but if not they were guilty

Wergild

If someone had been murdered one had to pay a fine or a silver piece then they had to pay a fine to their own or the case or there to murder they paid it to their family.

Trial by Cold Water

If you were accused of being guilty then they were like to a tree and deep in a pond.

Hue and Cry

If someone had been raped then they would cry and say that they had been then every body in the village had to stop what they were doing and chase them so they could do so then they had to pay a fine.