Dear Year 3 Parents and Carers,

Welcome back to the second half term at Falcon. We hope the children have enjoyed their half term and feel well rested and ready for another half term.

In English, the children have now finished their first Talk for Writing unit and have completed two pieces of extended writing. Firstly, they wrote a section at a time with the teacher modelling first and then wrote their own piece based on a scene from Finding Nemo. After finishing, they then improved their work and wrote it up neatly. We have now started our next unit where the children will be learning all about how to write instruction texts before they write their own instruction for how to make worm spaghetti (based on an extract from The Twits).

Column addition and subtraction have been the focus of the mathematical teaching at the start of this half term. The children have become proficient at setting their calculations out in their books and are developing confidence with exchanging. This is a really tricky skill which they will continue to use throughout their time at Falcon so any at home practice would be fantastic support. Once we have completed our learning about addition and subtraction, we will be moving onto multiplication and division.

Last half term in DT, the children were excited to construct and decorate their picture frames and I think you will agree showed such creativity with their final designs. We also went on a trip to Cromer to visit the fossil museum. All the children had a chance to handle real fossils and then we headed to the beach to find our own. Some children were even lucky enough to find their own.

This half term, the children have been excited to begin their new history and art topics based around the Stone Age. They have loved looking at all the Stone Age artefacts and guessing what they could have been used for and recreating cave paintings on the wall using line drawings. There is some amazing art work already and we are only on week one.

Coming up this half term we have our trip to Gressenhall for our Stone Age day, decorations afternoon on Friday 4th December and our Lights, Camel, Action performances on Wednesday 9th

December in the afternoon and in the evening on Thursday 10th December (more information to follow on how to obtain your tickets to watch). We finish the half term off with our Christmas lunch and Year 3 party on Tuesday 15th December where the children will be able to wear their Christmas jumper along with their normal uniform.
